

Dear Year 6:

My Name is Mr Robilliard. I am head of the Foundations faculty. I have several roles within GTS where you will come across me, let me explain a little about what I do.

I lead, plan and teach the PSHE programme at school. PSHE lessons are very important to your development towards becoming an adult. The lessons cover all of the things that you REALLY need to know in life. Some of the areas that you look at are; how your body changes, relationships, careers, how to deal with your emotions, money, rights and responsibilities that you have and the law. Almost every member of staff will teach you important things about life, not just in PSHE lessons either!

I am also part of a team of teachers who look carefully at how we support all of our learners at GTS. That means I will look at information that we have about you, data from tests that you will be doing, I speak to teachers about how you are getting on in lessons and, along with Mrs Whiterod I will look at ways to stretch and support you in school. This might be some short-term support in one area of your learning or maybe suggesting that you join one of our intervention programs.

My subject in school is Music. As you might know, music and performance are a big part of life at GTS. We have lots of musicians who play different instruments and everyone in school gets to have a go at learning several instruments. You can choose to sign up to have separate instrumental lessons as well, a letter will be sent to you at some point telling you how to do this. I love teaching music and I am very excited to be teaching year 7 from September. We have a brand new challenge to work on together, I can't wait!
